How to use this resource

Who is this workbook for?
This workbook is for people with a newly acquired spinal cord injury (SCI) requiring support from the National Disability Insurance Scheme (NDIS), and their carers and families.

What is it for?
This book brings together the information available to people with newly acquired SCI about:
• What is the NDIS?
• Can I access the NDIS?
• Pre-planning and creating my plan
• Starting my plan
• Reviewing my plan

How will this book help?
From the guidance in this workbook, we hope you will benefit from:
• More understanding
• More confidence
• An NDIS plan suited to your needs

How do I use this book?
If you are new to the NDIS, there is a lot of new information to take in. We recommend you work through one step at a time.

1. What is the new NDIS?
2. Can I access the NDIS?
3. Creating my plan
4. Starting my plan
5. Reviewing my plan

The NDIS is available to Australians with a permanent disability and aged under 65 years. This includes people with a newly acquired disability.

What is the NDIS for me?

NDIS is a way of providing funding and support to eligible people, based on their individual needs. Funding for supports can help you achieve goals in different areas of life including independence, community involvement, education, employment, and health and wellbeing.

As an NDIS participant, you decide who provides the help and supports that will help you meet your goals. The NDIS can connect you to informal and community supports too.

Step 2:
Can I access the NDIS?

First, you need to check whether you meet the eligibility criteria for funding with the NDIS. If a person meets the eligibility criteria they will need to apply for the NDIS by completing an Access Request Form (ARF). You can appoint a Nominee to help you with this process. The health care staff will also provide information about your condition on this form. A successful NDIS application is called ‘Access’.

Accessing the NDIS – your checklist

1. Have you received information about the NDIS?

2. Ask the NDIA Planner for an Access Request Form (ARF).

   Sometimes Health staff can do this for you, please ask if this is possible or not.

3. Complete the Personal Details of the Access Request Form (ARF)

4. Ask Health staff to complete the Disability Details part of the Access Request Form (ARF)

5. Email the completed form to the NDIA nat@ndis.gov.au

You will be notified by the NDIA if your plan has been approved.

Key people you will meet at this stage

The health care team treating you in hospital and at rehabilitation including:

- the medical and nursing staff
- social worker
- physiotherapist
- occupational therapist
- dietitian
- speech pathologist.
Part 1: Pre-planning

The pre-planning phase of the NDIS is about getting ready for your Planning meeting. The Planning meeting is to decide on the help you need and what funding you can receive in your NDIS Plan.

The pre-planning phase of the NDIS is broken down into three categories:

• About you
• Your supports
• Your goals

It is important to be prepared for this meeting by gathering information. We recommend you use a pre-planning booklet to help you prepare for your Planning Meeting.
Pre-planning: About You

In the planning meeting, the NDIA planner will ask you information about your day-to-day life. This is known as your Participant Statement.

You will need to provide information about:

- where you live
- the people who support you
- your daily life.

Pre-planning: Your Goals

The goals in your NDIS plan should be focused on functional skill, independence and participating in the community. Your goals will be discussed at the planning meeting so you can receive funding to achieve them.

These goals are different from SMART (specific, measureable, attainable, realistic and timely) goals. SMART goals are regularly used in health care and in rehab.

NDIS goals are broader, more overarching goals.

Examples of goals supported by the NDIS include:

- going out to see friends
- going to study
- going to work.

To achieve these larger goals, you need to set a series of small goals: getting out of bed, getting dressed, preparing and eating a meal before you go, cleaning up, transport and support while doing the activity in the community.

Your Local Area Coordinator (LAC), NDIA Planner or volunteers from other agencies will talk through your goals and aspirations with you before and/or during the planning meeting.

For example:

I would like to go to watch the football/cricket on the weekend.

What are some of your goals or aspirations? Write some ideas below.

1.

2.

3.

Pre-planning: Your Supports

Once you have determined your goals, you need to think about what people or items will help you achieve your goal. These are called Supports. Supports can include equipment or people to help you.

- Informal supports – family, friends and unpaid carers who can help you when you need it. If you have people around you that are limited in their ability to support you (for example, they are ageing or have a disability), please make this very clear to the NDIS.

- Community and mainstream supports – services available from government services (e.g. council transport, education or healthcare).

- Formal supports – services or equipment using NDIS funding.

The NDIS uses the term ‘support categories’ in your Plan. The plan has three groups of funded supports - Core, Capital, and Capacity Building. Your plan will have these categories but there is limited control over how the funds are allocated. These categories are important in preparing for your Plan Review in 12 months’ time.
Core - get you through the day

- everyday supports (e.g. personal care, house cleaning, shopping, transport)
- consumables (e.g. parts of continence products)

Capacity building - build your skills

- short term services to help you build your independence
- includes support co-ordination, support to access social groups or education

Capital - get equipped

- significant equipment or modifications
- includes power wheelchair, pressure care bed, home & vehicle modification
The NDIS will fund the supports they consider to be ‘reasonable and necessary’.

About reasonable and necessary supports

- NDIS reasonable and necessary supports video - YouTube
- NDIS reasonable and necessary supports

For example:

- Equipment – wheelchair, bed, commode
- Support worker to assist with personal care, domestic tasks, assisting you to do activities in the community (that are linked to your goals)
Part 2: The planning meeting

At the planning meeting

The NDIA representative will gather all the information they need to make an assessment of your needs for the next 6-12 months. They will then take this to an NDIA Planner, who is responsible for creating the NDIS Plan.

A planning meeting could look like this:

1. An NDIS Representative will start the conversation and ask a few questions focusing on:
   - your personal details
   - community and mainstream supports you do or will receive
   - your safety at home and in the community
   - your goals and starting your plan.

2. The representative will talk about how the NDIS funds supports. The supports will relate to your day to day living as well as your goals to live an ordinary life.

3. The representative will ask you how you want to manage the funds in your NDIS plan – self-managed, NDIA-managed, or having a Plan Manager.

Options for plan management

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Plan management option</th>
<th>How it works</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Plan Manager</td>
<td>If you would like some help when you first get your plan, you can choose to pay for a Plan Manager out of your funding and they can pay your providers for you. Your plan manager cannot pay more than the NDIA set price limit for specific supports.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Self-management</td>
<td>The NDIA provides you with funding to choose your own supports to help you meet your plan goals. This gives you control and flexibility over who provides your supports and when.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NDIA managed</td>
<td>The NDIA pays your providers on your behalf. They can only pay providers who are registered with the NDIS. They cannot pay more than the NDIA set price limits.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

After the planning meeting
The time from your planning meeting to receiving your plan can vary. You can contact the NDIA to follow up on the progress of your plan.

There are two parts to starting your plan:

Part 1: Receiving and understanding my NDIS plan
Part 2: Using my plan

Part 1: Receiving and understanding my NDIS plan

After your planning meeting the NDIA will review the information from the planning meeting and any other necessary documentation. Sometimes you may be asked for further information.

The time from your planning meeting to receiving your plan can vary. If you would like to follow up on the progress of your plan, you can contact the NDIA.

Once the plan has been approved you should receive a notification from the NDIA. You will receive some information and a code to access the myplace participant portal, through your mygov online account.

The myplace portal is where you can:

- find your NDIS plan and available funding
- find providers
- make payment requests (if you are self-managing your child’s NDIS plan).

You should now have a plan implementation meeting with your Local Area Coordinator or Support Coordinator to discuss the plan and how to implement it.
Part 2: Using my plan

Choosing service providers

Once you have received your NDIS plan and you understand what’s in it, you can start choosing service providers. It’s important to find a service provider who is right for you.

Questions to ask a service provider/agency before starting a service agreement:

- What experience do you have in working with clients with a spinal cord injury?
- Are your support workers trained in the needs of a person with a disability?
- Can they work with complex care needs or challenging behaviours?
- What support services do you provide? Is your service flexible?
- How does your service provide ‘person-centred’ care and supports?
- What if I am not happy with my care worker or support person, or the services provided?
- Does your service monitor the quality of care it provides?

If you have been funded for support coordination in your plan, find a suitable service that understands your disability and your needs. Your Support Coordinator will coordinate services according to your plan. They are your ‘go to’ person to link you with the most appropriate providers for your daily/weekly care, goals and accessing mainstream services.
Service bookings and service agreements

You will normally need to make a written agreement with your provider, called a service agreement. Each provider will have their own service agreement. Carefully look at the terms and conditions, and make sure you understand all the details before you sign anything.

Service bookings are different to service agreements. In a service booking, you and your chosen provider agree on how much of your budget can be ‘reserved’ in your plan for that provider. Service bookings are usually written for the whole duration of the NDIS plan. They are documented in the myplace participant portal.

- NDIS: Find Registered Service Providers
In the few months before your NDIS Plan ends, it’s time to start collecting information and thinking about goals for your next plan. What has worked well in your current plan? What would you like to change?

What to think about for your plan review

1. Progress towards your goals – ask for reports from your current service providers about how NDIS supports have contributed to working towards your goals, and what supports you may need for your next NDIS plan. Any new assessments should provide evidence of what you need in your next NDIS plan. When you have made limited progress in your goals, explain why, for example, because of illness or a lack of funding.

2. Your goals for the next 6-12 months – what supports do you need to reach them?

3. When you have not used all the funds in your current plan – explain why. Any unspent funds will not roll over into your next plan.

4. Going through major life changes – for example, starting or finishing study, moving house, planned surgeries, or requiring modified or new equipment.

5. Managing your funding – did the current option work for you? Would you like to change options?

If your plan is due to finish soon but you have not yet been contacted by an NDIA representative to organise a preplanning meeting, you can contact the NDIA.
