GUEST UPDATE: THE NSW MINISTRY OF HEALTH

On 26 May, more than 90 health professionals and members of consumer groups from across NSW attended the 'End of Life: A Reflection on NSW and Overseas Practice' Symposium in Sydney.

The Symposium was sponsored by the NSW Ministry of Health and was a collaboration between the Spanish Embassy, the Cervantes Institute of Sydney, the Association of Spanish Researchers in Australia, the Brain and Mind Centre, Outcomes Australia – Sharelife, the Agency for Clinical Innovation (ACI) and the Clinical Excellence Commission (CEC).

As the local keynote speaker, Associate Professor Amanda Walker presented a comprehensive overview of the NSW Statewide Approach to Excellence in End of Life Care and the programs being delivered by the CEC, ACI, NSW Ambulance and the Ministry of Health.

Attendees also participated in a panel discussion on 'How do we ensure excellence in end of life care happens for every patient every day?', facilitated by Professor Lynn Gillam, Academic Director, Children's Bioethics Centre, University of Melbourne and with the following panel members:

Clinical Excellence Commission

The CEC's End of Life program aims to provide clinicians with the support and tools to ensure safe, quality end of life care for patients in NSW public health organisations.

Admitted patient death screening

The admitted patient death screening tool standardises screening of all in-patient deaths and includes indicators on the quality of dying. Specific measures at the end of life provide an opportunity for ongoing monitoring and evaluation of the delivery of this care. Over 90% of facilities are using the tool and database.

'Last Days of life' Toolkit

Working with clinicians and consumers, tools dealing with end of life care have been developed for generalist medical and nursing staff. The tools were developed through review of current literature alongside best practice. Piloting of the tools has begun.

AMBER care bundle

A framework to encourage clinicians, patients and families to continue with treatment, if they wish, in the hope of a recovery, whilst talking openly about preferences and plans for end of life. This program is available for facilities where end of life management could be improved.
