Authority – Supply of specified restricted substances by pharmacists

1) Authorisation

This instrument authorises an approved pharmacist to supply to an applicable patient a restricted substance listed in clause 2 for the treatment of acute nausea and vomiting otherwise than on prescription subject to the conditions in clause 3 of this instrument.

2) Restricted substances to which this instrument applies

This instrument applies to oral forms of:

- Ondansetron
- Metoclopramide

3) Conditions — Limitation on supply

An approved pharmacist may supply the restricted substance listed in clause 2 to an applicable patient, subject to the conditions that:

- a. The pharmacist must only supply a medicine indicated in clause 2 for the treatment of acute nausea and vomiting.
- b. The pharmacist must not supply a medicine indicated in clause 2 in a quantity that exceeds the duration of treatment specified in the NSW Pharmacist Practice Standards for Management of Acute Nausea and Vomiting, except in the circumstances described in clause 3(c) of this instrument.
- c. If the smallest available size of the manufacturer's pack of the medicine exceeds the quantity specified in the NSW Pharmacist Practice Standards for Management of Acute Nausea and Vomiting, the pharmacist may supply the medicine in the smallest available size.
- d. The pharmacist acts in accordance with the NSW Pharmacist Practice Standards for Management of Acute Nausea and Vomiting, approved by the Chief Health Officer and published on the NSW Health website, including in relation to any limitations on the supply of medicines indicated in clause 2 to a patient based on their age or other factor, and circumstances where a patient must be referred to a medical practitioner or other healthcare professional.
- e. The pharmacist must provide NSW Health with their full name, contact details, pharmacist registration number, intended services and location of services via the form at: <https://www.health.nsw.gov.au/pharmaceutical/Pages/expanded-services-application.aspx>.
- f. The patient and pharmacist must both be physically present at the approved pharmacy premises, for consultation with the patient to occur prior to supply.
- g. The name of the pharmacist providing the consultation as shown in the Register of Pharmacists maintained by Australian Health Practitioner Regulation Agency (AHPRA), must be displayed at or near the consultation room.
- h. Pharmacists must make a full clinical record of the consultation using secure digital software. Records must be stored securely for a minimum of seven (7) years and must contain:
 - sufficient information to identify the patient
 - the date of the consultation
 - the name of the pharmacist who undertook the consultation and their Healthcare Provider Identifier - Individual
 - any information known to the pharmacist that is relevant to the patient's diagnosis or treatment (for example, information concerning the patient's medical history)
 - any clinical opinion reached by the pharmacist
 - actions and management plan taken by the pharmacist
 - particulars of any medication supplied for the patient (including the name, form, strength and quantity of the medication)
 - notes as to information or advice given to the patient in relation to any treatment proposed by the pharmacist who is treating the patient
 - any consent given by a patient to the consultation, supply of medication and treatment proposed

- any referrals made to a medical practitioner or other healthcare professional.
- i. Pharmacists must provide clinical records of consultations upon request to authorised NSW Health personnel for inspection.
 - j. The pharmacist must seek the patient's consent to share a record of the consultation and any subsequent consultations (including adverse events) with the patient's usual treating medical practitioner or medical practice, where the patient has one, following consent by the patient. If the patient consents to the disclosure, the record must be shared within a week following the consultation.¹
 - k. The pharmacist must comply with the AHPRA & Pharmacy Board of Australia Code of Conduct, and the expected standards of ethical behaviour of pharmacists towards individuals, the community and society.

4) Publication

This instrument will be published on the NSW Health website.
