

NSW Aboriginal Health Partnership Agreement 2015-2025

PARTIES TO THIS AGREEMENT

- The NSW Government, through the Health Portfolio and
- The Aboriginal Health & Medical Research Council of New South Wales, representing the non-government, Aboriginal Community Controlled Health Services sector.

PREAMBLE

"Aboriginal health means not just the physical wellbeing of an individual but refers to the social, emotional and cultural wellbeing of the whole Community in which each individual is able to achieve their full potential as a human being thereby bringing about the total wellbeing of their Community. It is a whole of life view and includes the cyclical concept of life-death-life." (1)

The NSW Aboriginal Health Partnership (the Partnership) is now in the 20th year of its existence, and has enjoyed bipartisan support throughout that period.

The aim of the Partnership remains the same, namely "to ensure that the expertise and experience of the Aboriginal Community Controlled Health Sector is brought to the health care processes." (2)

Aboriginal community controlled health services are the embodiment of Aboriginal people's right to self-determination and are widely recognised as the preferred vehicle for delivering holistic, culturally appropriate, primary health care to Aboriginal people.

The Aboriginal Health & Medical Research Council of New South Wales, as the representative body for Aboriginal Community Controlled Health Services, is in a unique position to:

- ensure effective application of the guiding principles of the Aboriginal Health Partnership as a result of the position of trust and cultural respect that it holds as peak body for the members of the Aboriginal Health & Medical Research Council of NSW
- facilitate development of strong partnerships between Local Health Districts and Aboriginal Community Controlled Health Services at the local level and
- advance the vision and principles of the NSW Aboriginal Health Plan 2013-2023.

THIS PARTNERSHIP AGREEMENT

- Reflects the ongoing commitment of the NSW Government, through the Health Portfolio, to work in Partnership with the Aboriginal Health & Medical Research Council of New South Wales as the peak Aboriginal health organisation in NSW representing the non-government, Aboriginal Community Controlled Health Services sector.
- Acknowledges that the Aboriginal Health & Medical Research Council of New South Wales and the NSW Government, through the Health portfolio, are equal parties in this Partnership.

- Confirms the shared vision of improving the health and wellbeing of Aboriginal peoples across New South Wales.
- Confirms the role of the Partnership
 - To ensure that Aboriginal health retains a high priority required in order to close the gap in Aboriginal health inequity
 - To integrate Aboriginal health as a core element in all NSW Health policies and services.

GUIDING PRINCIPLES

The Partnership adheres to the principles espoused in the National Aboriginal Health Strategy 1989 and continued in the National Strategic Framework for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Health - A Framework for Action by Governments. In particular, the parties commit themselves to the practical application of the principles of Aboriginal people's self-determination, a partnership approach and the importance of inter-sectoral collaboration (3).
