1. Introduction

In 2020/21, NSW Health committed $55 million to non-government organisations (NGOs) for the delivery of a range of alcohol and other drug (AOD) services, including prevention, harm reduction, treatment, research and sector development activities.

NGOs are funded through standard contractual funding agreements with the Ministry of Health and/or local health districts (LHDs). It is common for individual NGOs to hold multiple NSW Health funding agreements for AOD activities. Over time, activity names, descriptions and performance expectations within funding agreements have varied, often with little or no consistency even for the same type of AOD activity. The AOD NGO Service Specification Guideline has been developed to support clarity and consistency in funding arrangements for all parties, and to contribute to reducing the contracting administrative burden for all parties. The AOD activity specifications focus on ensuring the delivery of safe and quality AOD services for people impacted by AOD and align with the NSW Health Clinical Care Standards for Alcohol and Other Drug Treatment.

The AOD NGO Service Specification Guideline is available to all parties involved in establishing AOD service delivery funding arrangements: LHD NGO Coordinators, LHD AOD teams, Ministry of Health AOD contract managers, and funded NGOs. It is expected that these parties will use the information and templates as part of contract establishment and monitoring.

The initial version of the AOD NGO Service Specification Guideline categorises AOD activity into types, subtypes, service settings, and target populations, and provides detailed descriptions and requirements for funded AOD treatment activity. Descriptions and requirements for other funded AOD activity types will be added in future versions.

The range of funded activity being delivered by NGOs is collated in NSW Health electronic contract management systems by the Ministry of Health and LHDs and used to better understand the AOD services being delivered for NSW communities.

2. How to use this Guideline

- ❑ Use the AOD NGO Service Specification Guideline for all funded AOD activity
NSW Health funded AOD activity for delivery by NGOs is categorised into types and subtypes. These types and subtypes, as well as AOD treatment settings and AOD target populations should cover all AOD activity scenarios. Refer to Table 1 for AOD activity categories.
- ❑ Populate the funding agreement template with details provided for funded activities
The standard NSW Health long-form grant funding agreement template includes a section titled 'Activity'; populate this section with relevant activity specifications included in this Guideline. The current version of this Guideline includes specifications for funded AOD treatment activity only. For AOD activity that is not AOD treatment, use the activity types and subtypes and consider using the same format for developing local activity descriptions and requirements.
- ❑ Select the AOD activity type and subtype
Select the relevant AOD activity type and subtype for inclusion in the standard funding agreement. Where the AOD activity is treatment, copy the relevant treatment subtype specifications included in this Guide (from page 11) into the funding agreement template.
- ❑ Select the AOD treatment activity setting
Select the required setting or mode of service delivery for each funded AOD treatment activity. More than one service delivery setting may be selected if this is a requirement of the funding. Relevant activity settings are listed in green font in each AOD treatment specification.
- ❑ Select the AOD activity target population
Select the target population/s that the funded AOD activity is specifically or primarily for. The majority of funded AOD activities target up to two or three populations. Not all populations who may access the AOD service are to be selected, only those that the funded service is targeted at, adapted for, or exclusively for. Relevant target populations are listed in green font in each AOD treatment specification. Not all target populations are listed for each AOD treatment activity as not all services are provided and/or funded for all populations.
- ❑ Adapt the activity description and requirements based on target populations
Additional activity descriptions and requirements are provided from page 47 for some target populations. Include these additional requirements where the target population is:
 - Young people
 - Women
 - Women with children and/or pregnant women
 - Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people
 - People with cultural and linguistic diversity
 - People on opioid agonist treatment.
- ❑ Don't adapt the MERIT priority access residential rehabilitation specifications
AOD treatment activity descriptions and requirements may be adapted in a minor way to fit local circumstances. However, the MERIT priority access residential rehabilitation description and requirements cannot be adjusted and is to be applied as written in this Guide. The NSW Health Drug and Alcohol Program Council endorsed the MERIT priority access residential rehabilitation specifications as written in April 2021.

❑ Select multiple AOD activity types and subtypes if funded

Where NSW Health funds an NGO for more than one AOD activity type and/or subtype, label the funded activities in the funding agreement as Activity A, Activity B, etc. and list the activity specifications one after the other.

❑ Apply NSW Health core performance indicators for all AOD treatment activity

Where funding is for AOD treatment activity, apply the NSW Health AOD treatment core performance indicators to the funding agreement in Annexure 2: Grant Funding Agreement AOD Performance Indicators Reporting Template. The AOD treatment core performance indicators are summarised at page 53 and available from <https://www.health.nsw.gov.au/aod/Pages/ngo-aod-kpi-resources.aspx>.

Consider applying the additional AOD treatment activity performance indicators included in the Annexure 2 template.

❑ Use a standard budget template with all grant funding

All NGO grant funding requires the organisation to submit an expenditure budget as part of the funding agreement approval process. A standard budget template and example budget is available in Annexure 3: Grant Funding Agreement Budget.

❑ Include a milestone calendar in the funding agreement

A standard milestone calendar that lists the required reporting, payments, activities and their timeframes can provide clarity on what is expected from both funding agreement parties for the duration of the agreement period. A milestone calendar example is provided at Annexure 1: Grant Funding Agreement Milestone Calendar.
